

SOCIAL MEDIA INTERN

Do you love to use social media? Do you love sharing stories from underrepresented voices? Are you passionate about sustainable food systems or ending homelessness? Do you want to support a young, vibrant team from Stanford working on both these things? Farming Hope could benefit from you!

Farming Hope creates jobs for homeless folks through garden work and pop-up meals. We need you to help us reach people interested in a truly equitable food system! We are looking for a social media intern to help us build and grow our online presence. Be the voice of our team members online!

Apply if you are

- Proactive: Post photos and stories as you see them at our events
- Accountable: Solid planning skills to help schedule posts and marketing
- A Foodie: We want to show all the work we do - and we love to showcase our cooking and gardening in our posts!

Social Media Intern Job Details

- Volunteer 2-3 hours/week to regularly post on our Instagram and Facebook
- 1 hour weekly meeting with the Farming Hope team
- Possibility for intern to be paid as we add more events that need to be publicized

Job & Responsibilities

Social Media Post Scheduling

- Create social media posts based on schedule of events for Farming Hope
- Help promote volunteer recruitment and donations through social posts
- Collaborate with Farming Hope Storyteller to publish their interviews and written work

Account Management

- Update Facebook and Instagram weekly
- Update Farming Hope website with newest events - no website management background needed (but awesome if you have it!)
- Share photos from events on FB page

Benefits

- Be an integral part of a social enterprise combatting homelessness
- Enjoy spectacularly delicious food (four course garden dinners on the regular)
- Work with a diverse, vibrant, woke team building community across the Bay
- Registered 501(c)(3) work can count towards class credit or paid fellowship
- College students can apply for Community Service Work Study funds (up to $15/hour)

To apply

Email Jamie at [jamie \[at\] farminghope \[dot\] org](mailto:jamie@farminghope.org) and Kevin at [kevin \[at\] farminghope \[dot\] org](mailto:kevin@farminghope.org) with a short note about your interest and availability.

Please forward this application to friends who would be a great fit for the Farming Hope squad!

Thanks for caring about your community.

